	General Donations	In 1986, the Society established this fund to meet the needs of the science as determined annually by the Executive Committee. Initially, the income was applied largely to support the Bibliography of Fossil Vertebrates. In recent years, unrestricted donations have been used to support other strategic initiatives of the Society.
	The Vertebrate Paleontology Education and Research Fund	The Vertebrate Paleontology Education and Research Fund is a fund created to support ongoing as well as major new initiatives.

The award has provided members funding for preparator training, material and equipment for preparation laboratories, research and publication emphasizing preparation and support for presentations at the annual SVP Preparation, Material and Methods Symposium.
	Romer Prize Fund	The Alfred Sherwood Romer Prize was established to recognize outstanding scientific contributions in vertebrate paleontology by predoctoral students. Because Professor Romer epitomized the highest qualities of scientific communication, this fund supports an annual award for predoctoral students who are conducting important research in vertebrate paleontology and who present their high quality research at the SVP Annual Meeting.
	Skinner Award Fund	The Morris F. Skinner Award Fund was created to recognize outstanding and sustained contributions to scientific knowledge through the making of important collections of fossil vertebrates-it shall also be made to those persons who encourage, train, or teach others toward the same pursuits.
