COPYRIGHT POLICY

The following uses are allowed:

1. Authors may replicate their own work, regardless of where they are publishing.
2. Authors may replicate their own copyrighted material in publications owned by not-for-profit organizations.
3. Students may republish their work for educational purposes.
4. Abstracts only may be republished.
5. Up to five copies may be made for personal use.
6. Authors may archive pre-print (submitted version) or post-print (revised post-review version) manuscripts.
7. Anyone may republish or archive SVP copyrighted articles from Palaeontologia Electronica under Creative Commons CC-BY licensing.

Copyright permission fees are charged for the following:

1. Republication of copyrighted material from JVP or Memoirs in which they are not the author, in publications owned by for-profit companies.
2. Photocopying of more than five copies of articles published in JVP or Memoirs.
3. Anyone interested in obtaining the above permissions, can do so through the Copyright Clearance Center.

The following uses are not permitted:

1. Republish an entire article from JVP or Memoirs (except in theses, dissertations, etc.).
2. Post the published version of JVP articles or Memoirs to a Web site other than the Journal’s.

Authors wanting permissions for work from Journal of Vertebrate Paleontology or other Society published work should email the Business Office Publications Department for instructions on how to obtain the permission they seek.
